

Old corrugated roofing sheets were reclaimed from the original farm buildings

State of the art bespoke hot and cold matching servery counters

When a leading Scottish farm shop wanted to create an innovative and unique servery counter Stellex were delighted to help.

FARM SHOP

The new servery needed to reflect both the old farm and the new era. A bespoke design was provided whereby old corrugated roofing sheets were reclaimed from the original farm buildings. They were then individually treated and sealed and incorporated in state of the art bespoke hot and cold matching servery counters that perfectly portrayed the farms heritage.

We recognise that each customer is unique. Our solutions reflect that. We do not subscribe to short term gain, instead we prefer a long-term partnership. This is one of the main reasons that a vast number of our customers have been with us for many years.

"We are delighted that Stellex forms part of Unitech Industries. Tony and his highly skilled team never cease to amaze us with their innovation and enthusiasm. It is no wonder that their customer satisfaction rating and retention is so high."

Nick Imlah - CEO, Unitech Industries

